

A "Green" alternative for delicious water throughout the whole house!

Many people today are looking for alternatives to standard water treatment methods. Hague Quality Water is committed to providing customers who have these environmental concerns with an effective product to improve their water.

Hague's NEW ULTRAMAX is a salt free filtration system that uses Activated Carbon and KDF 55. This innovative combination makes an excellent whole-house filter that removes tastes and odors, offers excellent chlorine and organic reduction, filters the water down to 20 microns, plus does not require a regenerate. Like other Hague products, this new whole-house filter features water and energy saving technology; great benefits for customers and the environment.
